Dr. Michael Beitler’s “MBA 716 Leadership, Second Edition” compilation for Bryan School MBA Program. Published 2021 by McGraw-Hill.

Self-Directed Nature of MBA 716 Online

Unlike classes you’ve had (and I’ve had) where the instructor comes to class and reads PowerPoints slides about the book chapter, you will need to read the book chapter and other materials before our optional Tuesday evening Zoom sessions.

I will send you Canvas Announcements about what to focus on before our Tuesday evening Zoom sessions. During the Zoom sessions, we may have a guest speaker (be prepared to ask questions), I will share some comments about what is not in the textbook, and then we will discuss how to apply the material that you’ve read before class.

I will allow some time on Tuesday evenings for you to meet with your teams. This time is important not only to work on assignments but to build your network. (Abby Donnelly will be speaking to us about networking skills later in the semester; she is a master networker.)

I have argued, “All learning to a large extent is self-directed learning.” Graduate school education in general, and the Bryan MBA in particular, is demanding.

I am often asked, “How much time should I devote to this course?” My response, “It depends.” While that is rarely a satisfactory answer, I go on to ask the questioner to consider his/her previous training/experience and interest in the topic. In the Bryan MBA program and in the business world, calculating the time needed to learn is always based on the individual. It’s always time well spent.

As leaders (or future leaders), all of you will need to know the material that we are covering in this course.

Even though this class is unusually large, I hope to get to know many of you individually. I will do everything I can to help you achieve your career goals. Let me know what you are looking for.

Electronic Devices

I will have several guest speakers, who are busy professionals, joining us. Electronic devices must be handled in a professional manner. You must be on-camera during our Zoom sessions. If your camera is not working, buy one from Amazon for $20.

Everyone is expected to show respect (by paying attention) to whomever is speaking (faculty members, guest speakers, fellow team members, and students on other teams).

Political Comments in Class

Political comments will not be tolerated. Our goal as professionals is to add value for our clients/consultants, not to convert clients/consultants or fellow professionals to a particular ideology. Only one warning will be granted; any student violating this policy after a warning will be dropped from the course.
Academic to Business Writing

In this course, you must use business-style writing. Business-style writing is different than academic-style writing.

You may initially feel frustrated being asked to write with a style that is opposite of what you’ve been taught in the academic world. That is understandable because business-style writing and academic-style writing follow very different formats. We will talk about these differences in class.

If business-style writing is new to you, think of it as a new tool for your success. It’s similar to a carpenter having both a hammer and screwdriver in his or her toolbox. Each has a different purpose. The key is to know when each tool should be used.

Course Catalog Description

“Introduction to the values associated with ethics and sustainability relative to leadership, from idea formulation through communication within various constituencies across organizational contexts and communication media.” NOTE: This is an example of “academic-style writing.” DO NOT write like this in MBA 716 or MBA 741.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLOs)

Upon completing the course, the student should be able to:

SLO 1: Describe an informed definition of three terms: effective leadership, ethical development, and sustainable business.

SLO 2: Elaborate on the tenets of effective (written and verbal) communication.

SLO 3: Apply principles of effective leadership and models of ethics to contemporary organizations.

SLO 4: Differentiate between models of effective leadership, stage models of ethical development and perspectives on sustainability.

SLO 5: Evaluate the sustainability of an organizations’ business model.

Course Pedagogy

- Lecture/discussions lead by the instructor

The request must state in writing the nature of the religious observance and the date(s). Student's participation must be confirmed in writing by an official of the religious organization. The instructor will require the student to complete any test or assignment in advance of the originally scheduled date of the test or assignment that is impacted by the absence due to the religious observance. The requirement for students to make such requests for excused absences applies only to days when the University is holding class.

Description of Grade Components:

Midterm Exam

Exam may include multiple choice, true/false, short-answer, and case analysis questions taken from class discussions, assigned readings, guest speakers’ comments, etc. The exam must be taken at the same time as the class. No make-up examinations will be allowed, except in cases warranted by extraordinary circumstances and supported with documented evidence. Students who do not provide documented evidence will receive zero points for the exam.

Final Exam

Exam may include multiple choice, true/false, short-answer, and case analysis questions taken from class discussions, assigned readings, guest speakers’ comments, etc. The exam must be taken at the same time as the class. No make-up examinations will be allowed, except in cases warranted by extraordinary circumstances and supported with documented evidence. Students who do not provide documented evidence will receive zero points for the exam.

NOTE: 25% of the final exam grade will involve a written assignment based on the Accenture case. Failure to submit the written-assignment portion of the exam will result in a zero for the entire exam.

Completion of MBTI & FIRO-B Assessments and In-Class Exercises

Each student must complete the two assessments (MBTI & FIRO-B) according to the instructions provided by the instructor and participate in the classroom exercises (debriefs). The instructor will provide links to each assessment. If a deadline is missed, the student will receive a zero, no exceptions.

Team Memo on Why An Executive Should Read “Start With Now”

Business-style writing is critical to success in the business world. As a leader, you are responsible for your team delivering clear, direct, and succinct messages. (The instructor will provide a handout on “Business-Writing Rules & Guidelines.”)

Each team will submit a one-page memo addressed to Dr. Carlos Rodriguez on why he should read Simon Sinek’s “Start With Why” book. Dr Rodriguez is a busy executive. After completing his Ph.D. in Biomedical Engineering, he went on to work as a research scientist for a Fortune 500 company. Dr. Rodriguez now is the Founder and CEO of a successful biomedical engineering start-up company. He has admitted to his executive coach that he is more comfortable working as a scientist than as a CEO. He has been very successful working with companies that buy his company’s products. But Dr. Rodriguez’s subordinates believe his “big-picture” vision and strategy skills are weak.

The purpose of this memo is to influence Dr. Rodriguez to read the book. NOTE: This is not an academic book report.

The memo must include direct quotes and examples from the book. Be aware, Dr. Beitler has read this book.

Any violations of the “Business-Writing Rules & Guidelines” handout will lead to point reductions in the team’s grade.
• Team Memo on Why An Executive Should Read “The Book of Leadership & Strategy”

Each team will submit a one-page memo addressed to Colonel Priya Anand on why she should read this book. She is a retired U.S. Army Colonel. She was born in the United States two years after her parents emigrated from India. Colonel Anand is a busy executive. Since retiring from the army several years ago, she has serving as the CEO of a mid-sized manufacturing company. In her 360-degree evaluation, her subordinates agree that Col. Anand’s organizational skills are extraordinary but everyone in the company complains about excessive levels of stress. Several senior leaders have recently left the company.

The purpose of this memo is to influence Col. Anand to read this book. NOTE: This is not an academic book report.

The memo must include direct quotes and examples from the book. Be aware, Dr. Beitler has read this book.

Any violations of the “Business-Writing Rules & Guidelines” handout will lead to point reductions in the team’s grade.

• Team In-Depth Case Analysis

Each student-team must submit an in-depth written analysis of the Tesla case.

Much of the grade beyond a "passing score" depends on the team’s ability to go beyond the "average" solution/answer, integrate the material from the course, and provide innovative perspectives, approaches, or solutions. The team should consider all the tools discussed in this course (and other courses) to substantiate its analysis.

The written analysis must be uploaded to Canvas. No minimum length is required, but the maximum length is 10 pages (excluding illustrations, tables, and charts). In preparing the written analysis, remember to be clear, direct, and succinct.

• Contribution to the Team

Your team members will determine the reward of 0-5 points for this category. Be sure your team members are satisfied with your level of contribution. It is your individual responsibility as a team member to ask your teammates for feedback about how you are doing.

• Professionalism Points from (-2) to (+5)

The instructor may reward up to five (+5) points for this category. These points must be earned; they are not a gift.

Professionals are well-paid because they add value. Think about ways you can add value in this course (participating in class discussions, asking questions of the guest speakers, and/or offering the instructor suggestions (articles, YouTube videos, websites, internet links) that can add value to the class. If you do not typically speak much in class, find another way to add value.

NOTE: It is possible to lose points (down to -2) for unprofessional behavior. Such behaviors include, but are not limited to:

Contacting the instructor with tech problems. (Never contact your boss or client with tech problems. Call tech support and get the problem fixed.) Missing deadlines. Grade grubbing.

Note: These "professionalism" points are awarded solely at the discretion of the instructor.
• Extra Credit: Serving on Memo Evaluation Committee

Up to three (+3) points may be added to your final course grade for serving on the committee. Simply “sitting” on the committee will not earn the points.

I will give everyone an opportunity to serve on the committee. Do not apply to serve on the committee unless you have good writing skills and can add value to this process.
